John Garner Sr.

BIRTH	1633 England
DEATH	26 May 1702 (aged 68–69) Westmoreland County, Virginia, USA
BURIAL	John Garner Plantation Kinsale, Westmoreland County, Virginia, USA
MEMORIAL ID	107223805

(Note: as a background note for John Garners recorded in Virginia under the headrights system....the following were recorded:
!st: As early as 1637, a John Garner, and a Richard Garner , were listed as being transported by a William Farrar of Henrico County, in his land patent for 2000 acres on 11 June 1637. Farrar transported 40 individuals at his own expense, which entitled him to 50 acres per person, a total of 2000 acres. This John Garner is not our John Garner, he is too early.

2nd: A John Garner was recorded as a headright for Daniell Gookins, Esqr.,, in Up. Co., of New Norf., 29 Dec 1637, 2500 acres. Gookins transported 50 persons. Again. he is not our John Garner.

3rd: A John Garner was recorded as being transported by Lewis Burwell, Gent., in a land patent dated 17 Oct 1650 for 1,600 acres, in Northumberland County, Virginia. Along with this John Garner, and 31 other transports, was a Thomas Broughton. Here we see a connection of these two transports. Thomas Broughton was the stepfather of John Garner's wife Susanna Keene, daughter of Thomas Keene and Mary Thorley. Thomas was the third husband of Mary Thorley.

4th:.....A John Garner was recorded as a transport by Thomas Hobkins of Lancaster County, Virginia in his land patent recorded 6 Sept 1654 for 1400 acres and transport of 28 persons. Again a Thomas Broughton is a fellow transport.
Even though John is mentioned as being transported twice (1650 and 1654, patent dates), it is still unclear if he actually arrived in America at that time. There were many variables to the headright system. Headrights were persons of all social classes....and often headrights'" claims" by the sponsors were made years or decades after the supposed passage by the transports to America.....so dates of the land patents do not necessarily indicate when a transported headright arrived in America. The sponsor would be claiming 50 acres of free land for each individual he sponsored to travel to America. The cost to the sponsor was the cost of the ship's passage for each headright.....hoping in the end that the 50 acres acquired per headright, would add to his prosperity as a landowner in America, and out weigh his costs of sponsorship. The system was abused, and we see multiple claims for the same headrights.
We do not know if our John Garner is connected to the first two John Garners of 1637, as it has not been determined if he immigrated directly from England, or if his parents were in Virginia when he was born. More documented research is needed here.

John settled in Northumberland County, Virginia, circa 1650, which had been formed two years earlier. Believed to be seventeen years old.

.....It is believed that John was born in 1633. He stated in a deposition in 1663, in Northumberland County, Virginia, that he was thirty years old. He settled near present day Lewisetta, in Northumberland County, on Cherry Point near the mouth of the Coan River, alongside the Potomac River, which flows into the Chesapeake Bay. About 1660, John married Susanna Keene (1646-1716), daughter of Thomas Keene and Mary "Margie" Thorley, also of Northumberland County.

.....In the following ten or so years, John was active with some land transactions, jury duty, transported five persons from England, receiving a land grant for 250 acres, sworn in as constable for Cherry Point Neck in 1663, appointed an attorney for himself, etc., and father of ten children. Tobacco was the important commodity.
.....In 1672, John and Susanna left Northumberland Co. and moved farther north to Westmoreland County (Cople Parish) near present day Kinsale. The early colonists settled along waterways, as it was a safe means of transportation, providing a way of shipping tobacco from their own docks, as there were no inland roads. John continued to purchase and sell land.

.....John and Susanna had ten children.

.....John died in early 1702. His will was dated Jan. 22, 1702. proved May 26, 1702.....recorded Jan. 1, 1703. John's wife Susanna lived another fourteen years.

.....In his will, John leaves his son Vincent the plantation and land that he (John) was living on. This was his land near Kinsale, where John and Susanna were probably buried, near their plantation home.

The children were remembered in their father John's will as follows:

1..John.....Bequested: half of 800 plus acres of land, upon
.....which he was all ready living)
2..Henry....Bequested: the other half of the 800 plus acres
.....bequested to brother John, upon which Henry was
.....all ready living, plus my chest with my wearing
.....apparel.
3..Vincent..Bequested: the whole plantation and land I now

.....on, together with the lands adjoining. Also a .....parcel of land lying in horn point. Also my long
.....gun, my hanger and a yoke of oxen. Also the .....one half of the money from what is got from the
.....the sloop called the "Outcry". Vincent, executor
.....to pay his brother Thomas the sum of 2 thousand .....pounds of good tobacco in cask; to pay his .....brother Parish, the sum of 2 thousand pounds of .....good tobacco in cask; to pay his brother
.....Benjamin
.....2 thousand pounds of good tobacco in cask, when
.....he shall be one and twenty years old; to pay his .....brother James the sum of 2 thousand pounds of .....good tobacco in cask, when he shall come to the .....age of one and twenty.
4..Thomas...Bequested: 2 thousand pounds of good tobacco in
.....cask
5..Parish...Bequested: 2 thousand pounds of good tobacco in
.....cask
6..Benjamin.Bequested: 2 thousand pounds of good tobacco in
.....cask, when he becomes age 21
7..James....Bequested: 2 thousand pounds of good tobacco in
.....cask, when he becomes age 21
8..Mary.....Bequested: A thomb ring
9..Susan....Bequested: A thomb ring
10. Martha..Bequested: A thomb ring

.....John gave and bequeathed to his well beloved wife Susan the rest of his estate "as Goods and Chattels moveables and unmovables". He made Susan his sole Executor.

.....I have seen no written description of what John's plantation home looked like, possibly log or brick construction.

.....Today, there are many descendants of John and Susanna Garner living across the U.S.

.....THE WILL OF JOHN GARNER, SR.....

Alabama Land Patents Database: Randolph County - Surnames Beginning A-C

These land records represent the transfer of public lands to private ownership. In most cases they represent purchase of the land by individuals from the United States Government. Others are the result of homesteading, Indian cessions or treaties, or bounty lands given to military veterans.

This database of more than 330,000 records can be browsed and is based on the original raw database of the General Land Office, a precursor to the Bureau of Land Management.

The BLM is in the process of scanning and putting on-line all of these records for you to see and print out for your own use.

http://www.glorecords.blm.gov

The database this introduction is appended to may contain errors the BLM has corrected as they double checked every record while scanning the documents. Once you have found an entry of interest in this database, be sure to double check it against the BLM web site.

The county designation in this database represents what county the land is in today, not what county it was at the time the individual took possession of the land, as county boundaries have changed many times over the years.

You can view current county maps at the University of Alabama web site:

Journey of Benjamin Sr

Benjamin Creech Sr. was born about 1724 in Nansemond County Virginia the son of Richard Creech Jr. and wife Mary Etheridge. In the years 1735-1756 the heavy migration to the Coastal Plain region of North Carolina accounted for the very rapid growth there, extending from 50 to 200 miles inland. Moving into the area the heavy migration from the areas of Isle of Wight, Surry, Nansemond and other counties of Virginia included the Scotch-Irish, Germans Welsh, English, French and others which run into the thousands. How did they come? - with horses oxen, wagons and cattle, walking, they made their trek into what was to become Greene, Lenoir and Wayne counties of North Carolina. Benjamin Creech Sr. and his brother Richard Creech were no exception for they had joined a wagon train to the south. Just how many families or who they were is not known; but actually they were headed for the region around the Lower Cape Fear Valley where many friends, neighbors and family had already settled. The time of year was winter; the snow and cold rainy weather had made them bear east instead of taking the famous "Philadelphia Wagon Road" which began at Schuylkill River Ferry opposite Philadelphia and ended near Salisbury, North Carolina. As they passed the territory of old Johnston County, North Carolina (later to become old Dobbs Co), Benjamin, a young man of about 22 years old, here fell in love with a young lady by the name of Mary Lewis born January 28, 1724 and married her in the year 1746 in the Spring. It was a very short courtship. It seems that Benjamin could not talk Mary into leaving with him to continue on to the Lower Cape Fear region but instead she persuaded Benjamin to stay near her family. Brother Richard continued on to New Hanover County, North Carolina where he stayed until after the American Revolution, then moved on to present day Barnwell Co, South Carolina. Mary Lewis was the daughter of Thomas Lewis and Rebecca (Becky) Thomas (daughter of Samuel Thomas). After the marriage of Benjamin and Mary Lewis, Thomas gave them a parcel of land 200 acres in 1747. Here on this land Benjamin and Mary built a log house with a stick chimney, dirt floors which had sand on them that had been hauled from the Great Contentnea Creek banks. Here in this house Benjamin and Mary had 9 children of which 8 reached adulthood. This house was handed down to their son Ezekiel then to his son John thence to his son Starkey thence to his son Joseph John Creech, who was killed in the Civil War, fighting for the Confederacy. This house stood until the year 1899 (my father William Franklin Creech was born in this house). The old Creech Cemetery is nearby this home of Benjamin Creech so it is presumed that Benjamin Creech Sr. came directly from Nansemond County, Virginia to what was to become old Dobbs County North Carolina (now Lenoir and Greene counties) where he built a land empire on Rainbow Run and Wheat Swamp. Here he received land grants in 1768, 1770, and 1771; and another, no date given, probably earlier than the others. He died before 1780 as he was not shown on that year's tax list and is buried near the old home site without a marker along with his wife, son John, son Lewis and daughter Mary Nancy Creech. These graves had markers until about the year 1932 when an old man asked the owner to clean up the cemetery (during the great depression) so he could make some money to get his family something to eat. The owner agreed to let him clean up the cemetery, but to his surprise when checked, found that the old man had removed all markers and had thrown them in a wash on Rainbow Run. (This story was told to me by Mr. Willie Sugg, who later owned the farm and stated he had seen the markers). Benjamin Sr. and Mary Lewis Creech did much for their country and its independence, as they had five sons to Serve in the American Revolution and one other son to be killed by the Tories at the beginning or just before the war started. They left each son a farm in old Dobbs County, N.C, but son Richard sold out and went to Cumberland County , N.C.; Mary never married; Simon sold out and moved to Duplin Co, N.C; Benjamin Jr. stayed in Lenoir; Rebecca no data; Joshua went to present day Johnston Co.; N.C.; Ezekiel stayed in Lenoir Co.; John Sr. stayed but died about 1783- his widow and sons went to Lee Co. Va. & Harlan Co, Ky.; son Lewis died young.

Description: Taken from James M Creech's "The Creech Family."

Benjamin Creech Sr. Home

Benjamin Creech Sr. was born about 1724 in Nansemond County, Virginia, the son of Richard Creech Jr. and Mary Etheridge. He married 1745 Mary Lewis born 28 Jan. 1724 the daughter of Thomas Lewis and Rebecca (Becky) Thomas the daughter of Samuel Thomas. Benjamin Sr. came to present day Lenoir County North Carolina in the year 1746. It is assumed that he came directly from Nansemond County Va. to old Johnston County N.C. He received several land grants in old Dobbs and Johnston Counties which later became present day Greene and Lenoir counties (see below) Most of this land was located on Wheat Swamp and Rainbow Run. The old home house of Benjamin Creech Sr. was located near the Greene-Lenoir County line on Rainbow Run off high way 91 between Snow Hill and Kinston. The house was made of logs with a stick and mud chimney and had dirt floors which had white sand on them that had been hauled from the Contentnea Creek banks. This house was handed down to Benjamin's son Ezekiel, then to his son John Creech, thence to his son Starkey Creech thence to his son Joesph John Creech. This house was standing until the year 1899 (My father, William Franklin Creech was born in this house) and the old Creech cemetery was near by, where he is buried without a marker. He died between 1770 and 1790. . He left all six sons a farm and most sold out and moved to other sections of the state and nation. Benjamin Creech, Sr. did much for the Independence of America as he had five sons to serve in the American Revolution and one other son to be killed by the Tories at the beginning or just before the war started. Benjamin Creech, Sr. had seven sons and two daughters. One son died an infant.

GEDCOM Note

Thomas Cockrell of Johnston County, North Carolina In 1729 North Carolina became a royal colony of England, and afterwards the colony experienced much growth. The colony's growth was sporadic as its western settlers groped their way to and beyond the fall line along the river valleys to form an irregular patchwork of protruding fingers of settlements. The migration of the Scots-Irish and Germans accounted for much of the growth. Col. William Few wrote about Hillsboro, a typical western frontier town of the colony in 1764. His description reads as follows: "...the metropolis of the county, where the courts were held and all the public business was done. It was a small village, which contained thirty or forty inhabitants, with two or three small stores and two or three ordinary taverns, but it was an improving village...A church, courthouse and jail were built, but there was no parson or physician. Two or three attorneys opened their offices and found employment." It was amid this atmosphere that Thomas Cockrell lived. Thomas Cockrell was born around 1745. The earliest record found of Thomas is a deed signed in December 1769 when he purchased 255 acres of land from Edmund Goodwin. This property was located on the south side of the Little Buffalo Creek including Edmund Goodwin's former plantation, being part of 405 acres Goodwin obtained from the Earl of Granville in 1750. It was about this time in 1769 that Thomas Cockrell married Tabitha Hatcher, daughter of William and Mary Hatcher. According to colonial North Carolina records, it seems that Thomas Cockrell was a respectable citizen of the colony, who during his lifetime, amassed more than 2,250 acres of land in Johnston County and personal property worth about 570 pounds, 1 shilling, 9 pence. During his lifetime, Thomas served on several juries and was a road overseer. Below are abstracts of some Johnston County colonial records with reference to Thomas Cockrell: 1778: Thomas Cockrell served on a grand jury 31 May 1779: Thomas Cockrell and others failed to appear when a jury was called. To be fined 3 pounds or show cause for not appearing 8 February 1780: Grant to be registered: David Godwin to Edmund Godwin; proved by Thomas Cockrell 25 November 1782: Ordered that Thomas Cockrell be overseer of the road in room and district of Thomas Cockrell 31 May 1784: Ordered that Reubin Wilkerson be overseer of the road in room and district of Thomas Cockrell 1 September 1785: Thomas Cockrell summoned as a juror at the next court 29 August 1787: Thomas Cockrell was on a petit jury 28 February 1788: Thomas Cockrell summoned as a juror at the next court 26 May 1788: Thomas Cockrell selected as a grand juror 29 May 1792: Thomas Cockrell appointed to a jury 18 February 1796: Thomas Cockrell summoned as a juror 27 February 1797: Thomas Cockrell apointed to the grand jury Thomas Cockrell's plantation was located in northern Johnston County, North Carolina near the present-day town of Kenley. His plantation stretched northward from the village of Beulahtown for three miles along the Little Buffalo Creek. He amassed this property over a 26 year period. Below are references to the various deeds to his 2,250 acre plantation: 7 October 1782: Thomas Cockrell purchased 100 acres on both sides of Spring Branch and the north side of Little Buffalo 24 October 1782: Thomas Cockrell purchased 200 acres north prong of Little Buffalo joining Edmund Goodwin's acres on both side of said swamp 21 October 1782: Thomas Cockrell purchased 400 acres on both sides of Little Buffalo from the governor 23 February 1788: Thomas Cockrell purchased from John Hatcher, Mary Hatcher and Jesse Hatcher, 125 acres on north side of Neuse River and the south side of the Meadow Branch 12 January 1789: Thomas Cockrell purchased from Reubin Wilkerson 150 acres on south side of Little Buffalo, being part of a tract granted to Edmund Goodwin by deed of Earl of Granville 25 November 1750 12 November 1795: Thomas Cockrell purchased 300 acres next to his own land 12 November 1795: Thomas Cockrell purchased 150 acres on the south side of Little Buffalo adjacent to his own land and land of Thomas Faulk 17 September 1796: Thomas Cockrell purchased 407 acres next to his own land from the governor. Tabitha Hatcher, wife of Thomas Cockrell, died during the 1790s and in early 1799 Thomas Cockrell died. When he died, his estate was divided into nine lots and distributed to his children (Samuel, William, Simon, John, Sarah, Stephen, Mary, Selah and Elizabeth). An inventory was taken of the personal property belonging to Thomas Cockrell on 26 March 1799. Taking the inventory were William Cockrell and Willis Garner.

William as son of Thomas and Tabitha from Melinda, a direct descendent. Samuel as son from Jack Olson, a direct descendent. We have a 20-yr gap between these children.

23 Feb 1788: Thomas Cockrell purchased from John Hatcher, Mary Hatcher and Jesse Hatcher 125 acres on north side of Neuse River and the south side of the Meadow Branch.

EARLY COCKRELLS

The North Carolina - Georgia - Alabama Connection

by Leroy C. Cockrell, Jr

1135 Tony Sanchez Dr. S.E.
Albuquerque, New Mexico 87123
(505) 298-2014

July 1997

The subject of the early Cockrells in North Carolina is admirably covered in the paper COCKRELL-STEPHENS AND ALLIED FAMILIES, FAMILY HISTORIES, Compiled by Edna Earle Flemming Patterson, October 1981. Part of this paper is attached as a reference to this paper which is intended as additional information to help clarify another part of the history of the Cockrell Family.

This writer suggests that it is probable that William Cockrell and Theny Bagley's three sons were Allen Cockrell (AFN: HKR9-8N) (b. about 1802 or 1803 in N. C.) who was in Georgia by 1824, married Sarah Harlan (AFN: HKR8-X0) in 1839 in Coweta County, Georgia and moved to Conway County, Benton Twp., Arkansas in 1849, Thomas Cockrell (b. about 1805 in N. C.) and married Martha who was born about 1807 in N. C. , lived in Coweta County, Ga. in 1840 and in Heard County, Ga. in 1850; and Needham Cockrell (b. abt. 1815 in N. C.) who married Sarah Endsley Nov. 14, 1833 and is shown in the 1840 and 1850 census records of Coweta County, Georgia. This would make Thomas Cockrell of Coweta County, Georgia a cousin of Patsey Cox (Cockrell), Furney Cockrell, and Wilson Cockrell as the records show, and Needham could have been named for Needham Godwin since William served as Administrator of his Estate as shown in the 1805 - 1807 Probate records of Johnston County, NC. All three sons were born in NC as the records show, and the dates agree.

There have also been several writers on the subject of Simon Cockrell who moved to Randolph County, Alabama sometime between 1830 and 1840 who have wondered about his travels. The Real Estate records of Coweta County, Georgia show a Simon Cockrell who purchased land in 1833 for $250 witness by Needham Cockrell and then sold it in 1836 for $600. This writer suggests that Georgia would be a logical migration route between North Carolina and Alabama, and it is quite logical and likely that family members at that time moved together with some members pushing the limits further than others.

Thomas Cockrell of North Carolina was born 1745 and died in early 1799. He married Tabitha Hatcher about 1767 - 1771. She died after 1790 and before Thomas. Ten children are listed for them including Samuel, born 1767 - 1774; William, born 1770 - 1774, Simon, born 1774 - 1775; and John, born 1780.

Samuel Cockrell was born in North Carolina 1767 - 1774 and died about Dec. 1810 - January 1811. He married Martha "Polly" Hatcher 1/17/1797, and they had 8 children of record. Among these children were: William who was born 1797 - 1900; Jacob who was born 1800 - 1810, Firne or Furney who was born 1800 - 1810; and a daughter born about 1811. Ms. Patterson was unsure about "Firne", but Real Estate book P2 pp 358 - 361 from Johnston County, North Carolina confirms that Wilson Cockrell, and Furney Cockrell, who lived in Heard County, Georgia in 1832 and Patsey Cox (formerly Patsey Cockrell) who lived in Fayette County, Georgia with her husband Thomas Cox in 1832 were all children of Samuel and Martha Cockrell of Johnston County, North Carolina. Furthermore, this Real Estate record proves that Thomas Cockrell of Coweta County, Georgia was their cousin, and the three children gave him power of attorney to settle the estate of their father. The records of the state of Georgia at this time provide some valuable information to help unravel the mystery of these early times and also add some new challenges to researchers interested in this early family history. A list of some of the references known to this writer is attached for use by others in the search for our roots.

William Cockrell who was born 1770- 1775 in North Carolina, married Theny Bagley on 3/1/1802, and who was a son of Thomas Cockrell born about 1745 and Tabitha Hatcher is known to have had three sons of record born about 1803 - 1815, but their names have remained a mystery to be solved. The 1820 census of Johnston County, North Carolina shows William with one son under 10 year old, one son 10 - 16, one son 16 - 26, and one male over 45 years old (William would have been 45 - 50 years old), one white female 45 years old or older, and 3 male slaves. The 1805 - 1807 Johnston County, NC Probate Records show that William Cockrell was administrator of the estate of Needham Godwin.

There were a number of other family members such as Jacob, Samuel, and William who were also present in Georgia. The similarity of the names and lack of written records at the time make the search to discover who was who difficult, but it seems that the evidence shows that the search to clarify the history of the family needs to include the North Carolina, Georgia, and Alabama areas to get a full picture of the family history and warrants further research in all of these areas with perhaps more answers in the real estate records pertaining to sale or disposal of property such as the insight gained by the settlement of the estate of Samuel Cockrell in Johnston County, NC proving the NC - Georgia connection.

The book Johnston County, North Carolina, Will Abstracts 1746-1825 by Ross contains the following mention of Cockrells:

Will of William Hatcher dated June 7, 1784, mentions his daughter, Tabitha Cockrell. Will of William Hatcher dated August 7, 1818, probated February 1820 mentions a daughter, Martha Cockrell.

This compiler believes that these wills of a father and son, each with a daughter married to a Cockrell prove the following: Thomas Cockrell married Tabitha Hatcher as he was the only Cockrell on the 1784-87 and 1790 Census in Johnston County, North Carolina, and that first cousins, Martha Hatcher and Samuel Cockrell, married. He was the son of Tabitha Hatcher Cockrell and she was the daughter of Tabitha's brother, William Hatcher, Jr. Marriage records show that Samuel Cockrell married Polly Hatcher. This must have been a nickname as Samuel's will mentions wife, Martha, and she is head of household on 1820 Census. More information on the Hatcher family will be given in the Hatcher Family History which follows the Cockrell Family History.

Stephen Cockrell's will was dated March 14, 1815, wherein he mentions his wife, Anny, who was to receive his estate and after her death or widowhood his daughter, Ansey, was to get $10.00 and all the rest of his estate would go to "my children" equally. It was signed in the presence of Hamilton Phillips and Simeon Cockrell.

Samuel Cockrell's Will was dated December 20, 1810, filed February 1811, leaving his estate to his wife, Martha, until her death or remarriage; then to the following children: William, Jacob, Samuel, Wilson, Firne and an unborn child.

At Clayton Library there are microfische cards on many of the marriages in North Carolina during the late 1700's and the 1800's through about the 1860's. Many marriages of Cockrells were found and in setting forth the descendants of Thomas Cockrell later the Cockrell marriages found on these cards are listed.

Chowan County was formed in 1670 as a precinct of Albemarle. Today it is bound by Albemarle Sound, the Chowan River, Bertie, Hertford, Gates and Perquimans Counties, with Edenton the county seat. Bertie County was formed in 1722 out of Chowan. A few years later a part of Chowan County went to Tyrrell County when it was formed. Some time later the area of Tyrrell adjacent to Bertie County was made into Washington County. Hertford County was formed in 1757 out of Chowan, Bertie and another county. Gates County was formed in 1779 out of Chowan, Hertford and Perquimans.

On the map sketched on the following page an attempt is made to show the approximate area of the old Chowan Precinct formed in 1670 where Edward and Thomas Cockrell lived around 1717, and the proximity of Johnston County to that area. Johnston County was formed in 1746 from Craven County and in 1777 Smithfield was the county seat. Before that time the County Courthouse was at Walnut Creek between Kinston and Goldsboro. Lenoir and Greene Counties were formed out of the area of Johnston County north of the Neuse River between Craven County and Johnston County's present boundary. Early Johnston County records remained in Walnut Creek after the other counties were formed and in the 1860's that courthouse was burned. Present Johnston County records begin with a few entries as early as 1760, but they are not complete until after 1777.

On page 3 mention was made of the only other Cockrells living in North Carolina in 1790 and 1800. They lived in Nash County. It is entirely possible that these heads of households could have been kin - brothers or cousins, but nothing has been found to prove this fact.

Jacob Cockrell of the 1790 Census left a will dated 8-22-1792, mentioning a wife (unnamed) and sons Jonathan, Nathan and William Haywood, who were to get 100 acres on the Juniper at the death of their mother. Witness was John Cockrell. Jonathan appeared on the 1800 Census of Nash County, the 1830-1850 Census of Greene Co., Alabama. He was born in 1778 and married Ann Tant 3-20-1804. Nathan appeared on the 1810 Nash County Census and the 1830 Greene County, Alabama, Census. It is believe Nathan had sons: Nathan J., born 1811, Dempsey, born 1808 and William born 1814,who were living in Sumpter County, Alabama, in 1850. William H. (Haywood) Cockrell, Jacob's third son,was living in Greene County, Alabama, in 1830.

John Cockrell left a will dated 3-20-1809, proved in court August 1809, mentioning his wife, Anne, and the following children:

Joseph - on 1810 Nash County Census and on 1830 Greene Co., Ala.,Census
John - Born 1790; married Tenny Baker 11-24-1814; on Nash Co.,N.C. Census of 1820 and 1830-1850 Greene Co., Alabama,Census
Samuel
Vincent - born 1793; married Elizabeth Pridgeon 3-21-1815; on 1820 Census of Nash Co., N. C.; and on 1850 Census of Greene Co., Alabama
Archibald (Baldy) - born 1795; married Lala _____; on 1820 Nash County Census; 1830-1850 Census of Greene County, Alabama.

   17. Wilson, born 1800-1810
   18. Firne, born 1800-1810. This name difficult to read in will. It may have been Irvin, as a man by that name and the correct age is listed on the 1870 Census.
   19. Daughter, born 1811, living in 1820 (unborn child mentioned in father's will)

3. William Cockrell, born 1770-1775; married Theny Bagley on 3-1-1802. She was born before 1775. Found no record of his death. He was on the 1820 Census with his wife, both being over 45 years of age. On the 1830 Census he was 50-60 years and his wife was 40-50 years, which would indicate he had remarried. He did not appear on the 1840 Census, which would indicate he had died or moved out of the county. Children:

   20. Son, born 1803-1810 (Might be the Irvin mentioned under No. 18 above.)
   21. Son, born 1803-1810
   22. Son, born 1810-1815

5. John Cockrell, born 1780; married Polly Folk 1-4-1806. She was born 1784-1790. They are listed on the Johnston County Census records through 1840. Children:

   24. Daughter, born 1807-1810, apparently living with parents in 1840 Tabitha
   25. Son, born 1825-1830 - living with them in 1830 and 1840. He could have been a grandson, the child of the daughter living with them those years. Ruffin

8. Stephen Cockrell, born 1774-1784; married Ann Watson 12-23-1807. He died in in 1816. (See mention of his will on page 10.) Children:

   26. Ansey, born 180?-1810
   27. Daughter, born 180?-1810
   28. Daughter, born 1810-1816

4. SIMON COCKRELL, born 1774-1775; Died after 1840 probably in Randolph County, Alabama; married Dicey Garner 3-21-1803 (bondsman was Willis Garner). Possible children:

   29. Thomas, born 1804; see below
   30. Jonathan, born 1809; see below
   31. Daughter, born 1804-1810; possibly Sarah C. Cockrell who married William Brantley March 31, 1827
   32. Jordan, born 1811; see below
   33. Tobias, born 1816; see below
   34. Son, born 1810-1820; not on Census record of 1830 when he was between 10 and 20 years of age; probably died young
   35. Byers, born 1821; see below
   36. Elam, born 1822; see below
   37. Son, born 1825-1830; not listed in 1840, probably died young

Simon Cockrell moved to Randolph County, Alabama, sometime between 1830 and 1840. His wife was listed on the 1830 Census of Johnston County, N. C. as being between 40 and 50 years of age, making her born between 1780 and 1790. No record was found of her death which must have been between 1830 and 1840, as she is not listed on the 1840 Census as being in his household. In 1840 Simon Cockrell had living with him in Randolph County, Alabama, Tobias, Byers and Elam. In the same county at that time his son, Thomas,was listed. Then in 1840 two other sons, Jonathan and Jordan, had moved into Randolph County, Ala.

All the county records of Randolph County were burned in a courthouse fire in 1896. Therefore, there is no record of a will or estate settlement of Simon Cockrell which would name his children. There are no marriage records available. It is believed that the above children could have been Simon Cockrell's children as their ages on census records as adults correspond to the ages of the children listed on the census records of Simon Cockrell from 1810 through 1840. On the 1850 Census the ages of Jonathan, Jordan and Byers were apparently given to the census taker wrong as each of them is several years older than later census records reflect. Jordan and Byers were living next door to each other and Jonathan was living not too far away. In 1860 Byers was not found (probably moved away) and Tobias, Elam and Jordan were found living next door to each other with Jonathan not far away.

Deed records in Johnston County, North Carolina, were not checked to try to determine when Simon Cockrell sold his property and moved to Alabama. Deed records in Randolph County, Ala., were more than likely burned when the courthouse was burned. Simon Cockrell's wife was the daughter of Joseph and Christian Garner. More information about the Garner family will be given in the Garner Family History which will be further along in these family histories.

[1619/20]."[6] In a second renewal of the patent for "Longfield," 25 Feb. 1638/9, Harris claimed 100 acres in the name of his "first wife Adry Harris, being an Ancient Planter."[7]

Harris served as Burgess for the Neck of Land, 1624, for Henrico, 1640, 1647-48,[8] was appointed, Aug. 1626, as one of the "Commissioners for the Upper Parts," which included Henrico, and in Dec. 1640 was Commander of Henrico County.[9] His will, now lost, was made about 1649.[10]

He married (1) Adria Hoare, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Triplett) Hoare, who was baptized 28 Aug. 1604 at Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire,[11] and was described as able to "doe plain work and black works and can make all manner of buttons,"[12] and (2) Joane ___, widow of William Vincent, who was listed in the muster, 1624/5, as aged 43.[13]

[6] Ibid., p. 438. The devise of the Gurgany land to Thomas[1] Harris led earlier researchers to conclude that Harris had married a daughter of Edward and Anne Gurgany. Although the reason for that devise is as yet unknown, recent reevaluations of the surviving evidence make it clear that such a marriage did not occur and that Adria Hoare was his first wife. The reference to the death of the first wife of Thomas Harris in testimony about a charge of witchcraft against the wife of Robert Wright of Elizabeth City (MCGC, p. 111) appears to relate to another Thomas Harris.

[7] Ibid., p. 615. The claim that she was an Ancient Planter is clearly an error.

[13] Ligon, op. cit., p. 843, without citing proof, states that she was Joane Osborne. Since Thomas Harris' 1635 patent refers to the patented land as adjoining land of Joane Harris his wife, she was almost certainly a widow holding dower in her former husband's land. William Vincene [Vincent] and his wife Joane were listed in the muster, 1624/5, adjoining the household of Thomas Harris (analysis by J. Philip Harris, Richmond, Va.).

William[2] Harris that he should have the "whole profits of the surveyor's place" until her eldest son should come of age and half of the profits thereafter. Testimony as to this agreement was recorded 1 Nov. 1679.[20] By deed of gift, 29 April 1691, Mary[2] (Harris) Ligon conveyed to her "loving sons, Richard Ligon and Hugh Ligon," 200 acres lying in Curles, Henrico County, "being part of a greater divident granted unto Captain Thomas Harris deceased and given by will of said Thomas Harris to his daughter Mary Ligon," to be equally divided between them.[21] Mary Lygon, Senr., left a will 18 April 1702/3-1 Feb. 1703/4.[22]

On 3 Oct. 1670 he was ordered paid £25 "for his Srvice in the Westerne discovery."[30] He left will 20 April 1678-1 Feb. 1678/9,[31] but was dead by 7 Oct. 1678 when the inventory of his estate was ordered made.[32]

He married (1) ___ and (2) Alice ___, whose (2) husband, George Alves (died 1734[33]), of New Kent County, in a suit, April 1683, concerning her son's indenture, is named as having married the "relict of Major William Harris deceased."[34] Alice took her sons to New Kent County.

HARRIS (Thomas)[1]

*1. THOMAS[1] HARRIS came to Virginia aboard the Prosperous "in May" 1611[2] and presumably was one of the group which sailed under Sir Thomas Dale to Henricus in Sept. 1611 to establish the settlement there. His grant of 100 acres at Neck of Land, 18 Nov. 1618, and acquisition of another 400 acres by inheritance subsequently are mentioned in later patents. He was settled, 1623/4, with his wife at Neck of Land, Charles City.[3] His muster there, 1624/5, listed him as aged 38, his wife *Adria, aged 23, who came in the Marmaduke, Nov. 1621, and Ann Woodlase, "their kinswoman aged 7."

Land originally assigned Harris within Diggs Hundred (later Bermuda Hundred), of record 11 Nov. 1635 for 750 acres, lay "southward upon the land of Edward Virgany [Gurganey] and thence extending Northward upon the land of Joane his wife ...," 100 acres due him as being an Ancient Planter on order of the late Treasurer and Company, 18 Nov. 1618, and 650 acres due for transportation of 13 persons.[4]

Thomas[1] Harris came into possession of the Gurganey land by 2 May 1636[5] and repatented in Henrico, 12 July 1637, the 700 acres included in this tract "called by the name of Longfield, with swamp and marshes ... southeast towards Bremoes devident ... 400 acres granted unto Edward Gurganey by order of the Court, 1 October 1617 ... and bequeathed by Ann Gurganey, widdowe of the said Edward, to Thomas Harris as by her last will dated 11 February 1619

That he was not the son of Sir William Harris of Cricksea, Co. was aged 26 or 27.[47] Upon coming of age he assumed his father's place as surveyor of Henrico County, according to the agreement made with his uncle. On 8 May 1704 he petitioned the Assembly requesting that he be restored to the place of surveyor, from which he had been suspended, 26 Aug. 1703, and again, 19 April 1705, he petitioned the Assembly for an allowance for surveying the land (5,040 acres) appropriated for the use of the French refugees at Manakintown who had come to Virginia, 1700.[48] He held 1028 acres in Henrico County, 1704. His will, now lost, was presented by his executor, Mathew Ligon, 2 March 1723/4.[49]

As William Harris, son of Maj. William Harris, deceased, now of New Kent, carpenter, joined by his wife Mary, he sold 250 acres which had been devised by his father to his half-brother Thomas, 31 July 1694.[52] On 30 Aug. 1697 William Harris of King and Queen County, carpenter, sold 60 acres located at Curles.[53] The quit rent rolls, 1704, show a William Harris with 100 acres in King and Queen County and a William

On 24 March 1725/6 William Harris was issued a patent for 400 acres on both sides of Cub Creek and Harris's Fork and adjoining land of Capt. Dabney in Hanover County, an area which became Louisa County in 1742.[55] He presumably died before 1733.[56]

Records exist mentioning the seven sons and establish, or strongly suggest, their connection with the patentee of the Cub Creek land, although there are some chronological problems with the identifications made and there are other Harris men with Cub Creek connections who are presently unaccounted for satisfactorily.

[58] Patent Bk. 12, p. 359. Harris, loc. cit., and Taylor, loc. cit., identify him as the Thomas Harris who married Elizabeth Lindsay, moved to Prince Edward County, and left will 6 July 1782-16 Feb. 1784 (Prince Edward Co. Will Bk. 1, p. 339) naming sons David, John, Peter, and Sherwood and daughter Judith. Since Judith married Jesse Pryor, 19 Feb. 1796, her mother consenting (Catherine Lindsay Knorr, Marriage Bonds and Ministers' Returns of Prince Edward County, Virginia, 1754-1810 [Pine Bluff, Ark., 1950], p. 64), it would appear this Thomas belongs to a younger generation, unless Thomas[4] did not start a family until past age 60. A portion (acreage unspecified) of this 400 acre patent had come into the possession of John Blalock, Sr., before 12 Dec. 1743 (Louisa Co. Deed Bk. 1, pp. 122-24). The balance may be the 206 acres sold by Blalock 14 Nov. 1743 (ibid., pp. 131-33), although this land was described

1698; 38. George[4], baptized 13 April 1701; 39. JOHN[4]; 40. STEPHEN[4]; 41. DAVID[4]; 42. Edward[4], of Louisa County, married Anne ___, who joined him, 5 Jan. 1749/50, in the sale of 150 acres, part of 400 acres on Cub Creek granted to his father.[59]

13. EDWARD[3] HARRIS (William[2], Thomas[1]) went to New Kent County with his mother and stepfather, held 100 acres there, 1704, patented 230 acres in St. Paul's Parish, New Kent (later Hanover) County on the west fork of Horse Pen Creek, 16 June 1714,[60] and was living in New Kent, 1719.[61] He married (1) Mary ____, who joined him in deeding to George Alves, 7 Sept. 1698, land inherited from his father,[62] and (2) Elizabeth ___.

Issue:[63] (by 1) 44. Anne[4], baptized 24 Nov. 1700; (by 2) 45. EDWARD[4]; 46. Sarah[4], born 20 Jan. 1705/6; 47. Judith[4], born 5 Jan. 1707/8; 48. John[4], born 24 April 1710; 49. Thomas[4], born 14 June 1712.

15. THOMAS[4] LIGON (William[3], Mary[2] Harris, Thomas[1]) died before 2 April 1705 when administration of his estate was granted to his wife.[64] He married, 2 Feb. 1697/8,[65] Elizabeth Worsham who married (2), by 20 Aug.1706,[66] Alexander Marshall.

Issue: [LIGON][67] 50. Thomas[5], died in infancy in 1706; 51. PHEBE[5]; 52. Mary[5], died before 1741; 53. ELIZABETH[5].

16. WILLIAM[4] LIGON (William[3], Mary[2] Harris, Thomas[1]), aged 59 in Oct.

[63] St. Peter's Parish Register. Although the father of the children by Elizabeth is entered as Edmund Harris, this presumably is a mistake. An entry in the vestry records, 1698 (C. G. Chamberlayne, The Vestry Book and Register of St. Peter's Parish ... [Richmond, 1937], p. 57), places Edmond Harris and Thomas Harris with land in the same precinct. The 1704 quit rent roll, however, has adjoining entries for Edward Harris and Thomas Harris, each with 100 acres. The identity of this Thomas Harris is undetermined.

In her will, however, Sarah (Ligon) Ligon left 5 shillings each to son-in-law Thomas Ligon and daughter-in-law Elizabeth Ligon. No record has been found that they could be husband and wife and therefore they presumably are Sarah's step-children, although William[4] Ligon did not name a son Thomas in his will. Sarah (Ligon) Ligon named a granddaughter Mary Mason in her will. but there is no clear evidence of her parentage. It has also been suggested that daughter-in-law Elizabeth Ligon was the wife of 99. Henry[5] Ligon and that since 32. Henry[4] Ligon did name a daughter Elizabeth in his will it was she who married (1) ___ Mason and (2) Thomas Ligon (the man named as Sarah's son-in-law), although his place in the family is not further identified.

Disputed Origins & Wife

From http://hatcherfamilyassn.com/getperson.php?personID=I43718&tree=WmT...

> "It is commonly believed that William Hatcher descended from the Careby Hatchers of Lincolnshire, England, and many books and family trees record this belief, some claiming his father to be Thomas Hatcher, others claiming William Hatcher. But none can provide even a shred of documentation to support his claim. After more than 10 years of researching the English records and documents, Emory Hatcher, through a professional British genealogist, has disproved all possible Hatcher males of the Careby Hatchers as the father of William with one exception. One Henry Hatcher simply disappears from the records after 1599. There is no evidence that this Henry is William's father, but because of the lack of records simply cannot be completely eliminated as a possibility."
> "There is recorded in Henrico County, VA a deposition dated 1677 of William Hatcher then aged about sixty-three years, making his birthdate c1613."

> "Again, no William Hatcher seems to have been baptized here of the proper age to be William Hatcher, emigrant to Virginia, nor is it possible to show any connection of this family grouping with that of Croydon (though many names are similar).[189] Until some proof is obtained that the emigrant William Hatcher was in fact descended from, or related to, one of these families, perhaps by tracing Henry Hatcher [No. 6], through whom the only possible direct connection with the Careby family could be obtained, the foregoing section is of academic interest only. It cannot and should not be cited as authority for the presence of any such connection."

> "Another source of controversy is the name of William's wife. She has been recorded as Alice Emmerton, Mary, Sarah, Mary Sarah Smith, and Marion Newport. There has been no evidence found to my knowledge proving the name of William's wife. In June 1999 the Jamestown Society accepted the thesis of Jerry Proudfit of Atlanta, GA, that William was not married when he arrived in this country. His argument was based on the fact that had William arrived with a wife and child, Edward, who is believed to have been born in England c1633, William would have claimed an additional 100 acres for importing his wife and child. He did not do this. This is the basis for correcting Edward's likely birthdate to 1637"

Around 1635, when he was 22 years of age, William Hatcher left England and settled in Jamestown, Henrico County, Virginia. Jamestown, having been established in 1607, was only 28 years old. He amassed much land and money during his lifetime, and owned Varina Plantation, which is still in existence today. William Hatcher became quite active in Henrico County, virginia. As a wealthy and successful tobacco plantation owner, he had a position of power. He was obviously held in high regard for he was elected to the Virginia House of Burgesses a number of times: 1644, 1645, 1646, 1649, 1652, 1658, and 1659.

Land and tobacco were not the only means of William Hatcher's acquisition of wealth. In 1658 or 1659, at Newport, Rhode Island, William Hatcher and two of his friends, George Potter and Henry Randolph bought a ship named the Blackbird. The vessel was fairly good size and cost three hundred pounds British Sterling. They probably utilized the ship for shipping tobacco or for other trade with Boston.

He was elected Member of the Virginia House of Burgesses. Occupation: Tobacco planter. Owned Varina Plantation

Like many of our ancestors' lives, William Hatcher's has some disputed facts. His parents are not known and although a number of researchers have attached him to the Hatcher family of Careby, England, there is no definite proof that he is a descendent of this family. About the only concensus is that he was born in 1613 in Careby, Leichestershire, or Lincolnshire, England. His birth date was determined by a legal document he signed 1 Aug 1676 in which he stated he was 63 years old. All the male Hatchers in Careby with the exception of Henry Hatcher have been proven not to be the father of William. Henry simply "vanished" from public documents and so far nothing has been found to prove definitely that he was or was not William's father. Early accounts tend to list William Hatcher, brother of Henry, as our William's father.

Around 1635 when he was 22 years old, William Hatcher left England and came to the Jamestown Colony in Virginia. Luckily William arrived after tobacco was "the" established crop. He brought with him three "importees," and by paying for their passage to the new world, he was awarded 50 acres of land for himself and 50 as compensation for each of those with him, giving him 200 acres in Virginia. These three importees were Alice Emmerton, Richard Radford, and John Winchester. In 1637 William again imported 3 people--Benjamin Gregory, Thomas Browne, and Charles Howell--giving him additional property. As late as 1674 he was still using this method as one way of acquiring land for on September 26 of that year, he was given 227 acres in Henrico Co on the South side of the James River between. Gilbert Elam and Henry Lown's property for the transport of five more people:: Thomas Childers, Sarah Poynter, Henry. Davernett, Edward Stringer, and Ann Fryer. It is possible that these people served as indentured servants to pay for their passage. The lands he received for the imported people were just the beginning, for William continue to amass property. This method of land acquisition would indicate that William Hatcher was rather well-to-do when he arrived in Jamestown.

Member of the VA House of Burgesses - Oct 1644; Nov 1645; Oct 1649; Apr 1652; Mar 1658-9

Proof in Henings Statues at Large by William Waller Hening Vol 1, pgs 283,299,359,369&506

William Hatcher is established in the Colonial Dames of America. He and wife Mary, and their first child, Edward, Emigrated to Bermuda Hundred, VA in 1635.

Note: Some records indicate that Henry (son) was also born prior to their coming to Colonies. This would mean he would have been born about 1634. This is not yet proven.

The immigrant Hatcher became a successful planter and politician. He was appointed a "viewer of tobacco" by an act of the Assembly in 1639, a position of importance at that time as tobacco was then a medium of exchange.

William was member of the House of Burgess for Henrico:
October, 1644; November, 1645; March, 1645-46; October, 1649; April, 1652; November, 1654; March, 1658; March, 1659.

At the beginning of the session of November, 1654, the House made the following order: "Wheres Col. Edward Hill unanimously chosen Speaker of this house, was afterwards maliciously reported by William Hatcher to be an atheist and blasphemer, according to an infomation exhibited against him the last quarter court, from which the honourable Governor and Council then cleared the said Col. Edward Hill, and now certified the same unto the house: And forasmuch as the said William Hatcher, notwithstanding he had notice given him of the Governour and Council's pleasure therein, and of the said Col. Hill's being cleared as aforesaid, hath also reported, that the mouth of this house was a Devil, nominating and meaning thereby the said Right Worp'll Col. Edward Hill; It is therefore ordered by this house, that the said William Hatcher, upon his knees, make an humble acknowledgment of his offense unto the said Col. Edward Hill and Burgesses of this Assembly; which accordingly was performed, and then he, the said Hatcher, dismist paying his fees." In 1676, during Bacon's rebellion, was fined 10,000 pounds of tobacco for "uttering munitious words". Ref: Our Kin pg 146. Ref: Vol 3 WFT 3792 by Broderbund. According to page 323 of "History of the Colony and Ancient Dominion of Virginia" found online it is written: "More than 20 years afterwards, in his old age, he was fined eight thousand pounds of pork, for the use of the king's soldiers, on account of mutinous words uttered shortly after Bacon's rebellion." (perhaps both are correct) In 1676, William was fined ten thousand pounds of tobacco and casks for the part he took in Bacon's Rebellion, which Bancroft in his History of the United States says, was "the early harbinger of American nationality." The Hatchers, long before the Revolutionary War, were battling for the rights of the people as against the encroachments of arbitrary power. He owned three fine plantations on the James River: "Varina", "Turkey Island", and "Neck of Land".

March 15, 1676/7 William Hatcher being brought before the court for uttering divers mutinous words tending to the disquiett of this his Majesty's countrey, and it being evidently made appeare what was layd to his charge by divers oaths, and a Jury being impanelled to assesse the damages, who bring in their verdict that they award the said Hatcher to pay ten thousand pounds of tobacco and caske; but in respect the said Hatcher is an aged man, the court doth order that the said Hatcher doe pay with all expedition eight thousand pounds of drest porke unto his Majestie's commander of his forces in Henrico county, for the supply of the soldiers, which if he fayle to doe, that he pay eight thousand pounds of tobacco and caske the next cropp, and pay costs. The contentious Mr. Hatcher reacted harshly also to his neighbors poaching fish from his pond. In 1680 Thomas Burton Jr. declared in court that “he saw Jno. Lantroope strike a piece out of the head of Mr Robert Woodson’s cannoe with an axe, and that ye deponent heard Mr William Hatcher order ye said Lantroope and his other servants to splitt all ye cannoes they found in the swampp and further saith not.” The hatchet-wielding assailant, “Jno. Lantroope," was probably the “Jno. Lantthorpe,” a headright when Benjamin Hatcher and John Milner patented

When Wm Hatcher died in 1680 the TWO surviving sons Edward and Benjamin "for the sake of quiet and peaceable selttlement and to avoid further suits and quarrels" divided the personal estate. Edward received the 650 acre "Neck ofLand Plantation" while Benjamin received equal acreage at "Varnia, Pigg in the Bole and Turkey Island". They gave their brother Henry's children livestock in the settlement.

Biography William Gulielmus Hatcher The following is popularly claimed to be true about William Hatcher but isn't proven: William Hatcher was descended from the Careby Hatchers of Lincolnshire, England. There was a William Hatcher of Careby, a member of Parliament, who was indicted for treason in 1643, because he had taken up arms against the King. There was also a Sir Thomas Hatcher who was a Colonel in Cromwell's army and who was indicted for treason in 1843. "The Immigrant" could have been the son of either of these "Round-heads". It could account for the little respect he showed the officials of the Virginia Colony, who were loyal to the King (Ref: "Our Kin", 1930, p. 146). William arrived in Virginia in 1635 with his wife and son. He married Marion Newport on 27 Dec 1632 in Ogburn St. George, Wiltshire, England. Marion was born in 1615 at St. George, Wiltshire, England and died in 1646 at Varina Parish, Henrico Co., VA. A small genealogical conundrum has arisen concerning the identity of William Hatcher's wife. Several names have been proffered, including Marion Newport mentioned above, but presently there is no acceptable documentation to identify her.

The following is proven about William Hatcher unless otherwise noted: A 1677 Henrico Co., VA deposition by William Hatcher indicated his age as about sixty-three years, making his birth date circa

1613/4. In 1635, at the age of about 21 Y/O, William immigrated to Virginia aboard the ship "Abigail". It is reported that he paid passage for 2 others, often assumed to be his wife and son, Edward, whom some believe to have been born in England circa 1633. In fact, in June 1999 the "Jamestowne Society" accepted the hypothesis presented by Jerry Proudfit of Atlanta, GA, that William was not married when he arrived in this country. His argument was based on the fact that had William arrived with a wife and child, he would have claimed an additional 100 acres for importing them. He did not do this; and no wife relinquished her dowry for these early land grants. On 01 June 1636, William Hatcher was granted a 200 acre land patent in Henrico County on the "Appomatuck" River, 50 acres for his personal adventures and 150 acres for transporting 3 persons (headrights) from England to Virginia, namely Richard Radford, John Winchester and Alice Emmerton. (Virginia Land Patent Bk. No. "1", Part "1", p363) [See attached copy of Williams 1636 land grant]

On 10 Jul 1637, William received a land grant for 850 acres which included 200 acres of headright land for transporting 4 more colonists, e. g. Benjamine Gregory, Thomas Browne, Charles Howell and Elizabeth Willis. NOTE: Puzzlingly, the names Richard Radford, John Winchester and Alice Emmerton, headrights from William's 1636 land grant were recorded again on his 1637 land grant. [See attached copy of William's 1637 land grant.]

On 29 May 1638 William received 150 more acres for transporting 3 more persons, e. g. Nicholas Ison, Francis Dunell and Henry Lilley.

William received several more grants over the years totaling over 1200 acres. See accompanying map for the location of William Hatcher's plantation along the Appomattox River near Swift Creek in lower left of the map. On the map, the dates associated with the names of the colonists indicate land grant dates.

A 1639 Act of Assembly appointed Mr. William Hatcher, Thomas Shippay, and Richard Johnson as "Viewers of Tobacco Crop" for Henrico County on the North side of the Appomattox River. A "viewer of tobacco crop" was a sort of government quality inspector/appraiser. [Ref. The Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, Vol. 5, No. 2 (Oct., 1897), pp. 119-123]. Besides being a tobacco planter, he became a member of the House of Burgesses from the Henrico Co., VA and served in that capacity in 1644, 1645/6, 1649, 1652 and 1658/9, his last public service (Ref: Colonial Virginia Register, p. 65; 5 V. 98).

William was obviously outspoken, headstrong and foolish for as he learned, "even nonmembers who aspersed the dignity of the House of Burgesses or its officers suffered speedy censure". The troubles began in October 1654 when Hatcher, a former burgess from Henrico County, accused Edward Hill of blasphemy and atheism. These were serious allegations under any circumstances, but Hatcher's assumed larger proportions because of Hill's prominence as a senior militia officer and a former Speaker of the House of Burgesses. Hatcher could not sustain his charges in the Quarter Court, which dismissed them. The matter should have ended once the court "cleered the said Coll. Edward Hill," but Hatcher was foolhardy. When the General Assembly convened in November (1654) Hill's colleagues again elected him Speaker, and Hatcher "laid his slurs before the House". This time, though, he compounded the insinuations by asserting that "the mouth of this house was a Devil". Affronted by such contempt for their Speaker, the members haled Hatcher before the bar of the House and forced him on bended knee to acknowledge "his offence unto the said Coll. Edward Hill and Burgesses of this Assembly; which accordingly was performed and then he the said Hatcher dismist paying his fees (fines)". Ref: See source #1 below)

In 1676 at the time of Bacon's Rebellion (an armed insurrection in 1676 by Virginia settlers led by young Nathaniel Bacon against the rule of Governor William Berkeley), William Hatcher's foolhardiness again caused him trouble by his support of Bacon. At a court held by the Governor and Council, March 15, 1676-7: "William Hatcher being brought before the court for uttering divers mutinous words tending to the disquiet of this his Majesty's countrey, and it being evidently made appeare what was layd to his charge by divers oaths, and a Jury being impanelled to assess the damages, who bring in their verdict that they award the said Hatcher to pay ten thousand pounds of tobacco and caske, which verdict of the jury this honourable court doth confirme; but in respect the said Hatcher is an aged man, the court doth order that the said Hatcher doe pay with all expedition eight thousand pounds of drest pork unto his Majesty's commander of his forces in Henrico county, for the supply of his souldiers, which if he fayle to doe, that he pay eight thousand pounds of tobacco and caste the next cropp, and pay costs." William was much more fortunate than most who took part in Bacon's Rebellion. Many were committed to prison and forced to forfeit all or most of their property, which, incidentally was given to friends and supporters of the King.

The children of William Hatcher and his unknown wife were:

1) Edward Hatcher, b. Abt. 1636 Henrico Co., VA, d. 1711 Henrico Co., VA, m. Mary Ward. 2) William Hatcher, Jr. b. Abt. 1638 Henrico Co., VA, d. Between Feb 1661-Aug 1667, Henrico Co., VA, m. Unmarried. 3) Henry Hatcher, b. Abt. 1639 Henrico Co., VA, d. Abt. Aug 1677, Henrico Co., VA, m. Ann Lound. 4) Jane Hatcher, b. 1640 Henrico Co., VA, d. Aft Dec 1710, Henrico Co., VA, m. (1) William Branch, (2) William Baugh, Jr., (3) Abell Gower. (See source #7 below) 5) Benjamin Hatcher, Sr., b. Abt. 1644 Varina Dale Parish, Henrico Co., VA, d. Between Apr 1727-Oct 1728, Henrico Co., VA, m. Elizabeth Greenhaugh, daughter of John Greenbaugh. 6) Susanna Hatcher, b. Abt. 1646 Henrico Co., VA, d. Aft Dec 1699, Henrico Co., VA, m. (1) John Stewart, (2) Thomas Burton.

William's literacy was seemingly demonstrated by him personally signing his extant 1680 will and he was probably buried on his plantation in Henrico, Co., VA. NOTE: This memorial which is dedicated to William Hatcher has been connected to the memorial of Marian (Newport) Hatcher even though there is no proof they were actually spouses.

The House of Burgesses and William Hatcher source: http://hatcherfamilyassn.com/showmedia.php?mediaID=11793&medialinkl... Contributed by Mary Bondurant Warren

A Little Parliament, by Warren M. Billings, 2004. p. 37 discussing the rules for the House of Burgesses of VA. In tone and substance, those rules bore marked resemblance to orders then in force in the House of Commons [of Parliament in England]. Burgesses were to attend whenever the House sat; those who absented themselves without permission stood liable to arrest and fines. While on the floor, they were to be mindful of the business before them and were supposed to refrain from becoming "disguised" with alcohol. When one wished to debate, he addressed "himselfe to Mr. Speaker in a decent manner" -- otherwise he was not to "entertaine any private discourse" when a colleague held forth. Everyone was forbidden to indulge in intemperate language while speaking, just as all were expected to treat the presiding officer with singular courtesy. As in the House of Commons, whenever there was discussion of "any thing proposed by the Speaker, The Party that speaketh shall rise from his seate and be uncovered [i.e. hatless] dureing the time he speaketh, wherein no interruption shall be made untill he have finished his discourse." Transgressors of this rule faced fine and rebuke.

As WILLIAM HATCHER learned, even nonmembers who aspersed the dignity of the House or its officers suffered speedy censure. The troubles began in OCTOBER 1654 when Hatcher, a former burgess from Henrico County, accused Edward Hill of blasphemy and atheism. Serious allegations under any circumstances, Hatcher's assumed larger proportions because of Hill's prominence as a senior militia office and a former Speaker [of the House of Burgesses]. Hatcher could not sustain his charges in the Quarter Court, which dismissed them. The matter should have ended once the court "cleered the said Coll. Edward Hill," but Hatcher was foolhardy. When the General Assembly convened in November [1654] Hill's colleagues again elected him Speaker, and Hatcher laid his slurs before the House. This time, though, he compounded the insinuations by asserting that "the mouth of this house was a Devil." Affronted by such contempt for their Speaker, the members haled Hatcher before the bar of the House and forced him on bended knee to acknowledge "his offence unto the said Coll. Edward Hill and Burgesses of this Assembly; which accordingly was performed and then he the said Hatcher dismist paying his fees." The burgesses' treatment of Hatcher mirrored the practice in the House of Commons. As it affords an additional, precise bit of evidence to sustain the conclusion that by the 1650s the burgesses were consciously modeling their procedures on Parliament. But did the Hatcher episode mark an exact instant at which the burgesses took another parliamentary prerogative for their own? The answer to that question is at best speculative because the incident is the sole example of its kind among the extant assembly records of that period. All that can be said with assurance is this. Hatcher's case illustrates the burgesses' appropriation of a power to punish anyone who held them tp to ridicule, although the precept was not then incorporated into the standing rules of order in the House. . . .

Unfortunately few records survive to reveal anything more than the bare outlines of how House committees worked. Scattered details furnish fleeting glimpses of the how and who of their composition. At least three committees were permanent fixtures by the middle 1650s. One, the Committee for Private Causes, acted more judicially than legislatively. Its primary duty lay in determining which civil appeals from the Quarter Court merited adjudication by the full General Assembly in its capacity as the court of last resort. Any legislation that modified statutory law, or proposed new ones, was given a first reading on the House floor then routed through the Committee for the Review of Acts, later known as the Committee for Propositions and Grievances. Its members vetted bills before sending them back to the full House for additional debate and final disposition. Revenue measures originated in the Committee on the Public Levy, which navigated passage of the provincial budget through the assembly. A part of its work, that committee also oversaw the apportionment and collection of taxes thrughout the colony, and it enjoyed considerable say in the disbursements of public funds. . . . Because standing committees were essential to the timely disposal of business, they were named soon after the House went into session; the rest were chosen according to need. . . . The end result of these and other refinements by the late 1650s was a secure House of Burgesses. Jealous of its stature and possessive of its rights, it stood confident as the wellspring of sovereignty in Virginia. As such, the House was strategically positioned to dictate the terms that returned the colony to his former loyalty [to royalty]. . . . William Hatcher was serving in House of Burgesses in 1640s, and 1652 when the monarchy was overthrown by the Parliamentary Party under Cromwell in Britain. The General Assembly of Virginia. Came to VA about 1635, and figured conspicuously as a resident of Henrico Co. He was a member of the House of Burgesses in Henrico Co. 1644-1646, 1649, 1652, and again in 1659. Some interesting notes on him are given in VA Magazine of History and Biography, V, p. 98. He was the father of Edward Hatcher (1633-1711) of Henrico Co. who (as appears by records quoted in the text) was the father of Sarah Hatcher who married first, Matthew Turpin; second, Joseph Tanner; third, Samuel Oulton. Correct parents of William not yet known

It is commonly believed that William Hatcher descended from the Careby Hatchers of Lincolnshire, England, and many books and family trees record this belief, some claiming his father to be a Thomas Hatcher, others claiming William Hatcher. But none can provide even a shred of documentation to support this claim.

After more than 10 years of researching the English records and documents, Emory Hatcher, through a professional British genealogist, has disproved all possible Hatcher males of the Careby Hatchers as the father of William with one exception. One Henry Hatcher simply disappears from the records after 1599. There is no evidence that this Henry is William's father, but because of the lack of records simply cannot be completely eliminated as a possibility.

correct spouse

Another source of controversy is the name of William's wife. She has been recorded as Alice Emmerton, Mary, Sarah, Mary Sarah Smith, and Marion Newport. There has been no evidence found to my knowledge proving the name of William's wife. In June 1999 the Jamestown Society accepted the thesis of Jerry Proudfit of Atlanta, GA, that William was not married when he arrived in this country. His argument was based on the fact that had William arrived with a wife and child, Edward, who is believed to have been born in England c1633, William would have claimed an additional 100 acres for importing his wife and child. He did not do this. This is the basis for correcting Edward's likely birthdate to 1637.

History of William Hatcher

The following is popularly claimed to be true about William Hatcher but isn't proven: "William Hatcher was descended from the Careby Hatchers of Lincolnshire, England. He married Marion Newport on 27 Dec 1632 in Ogburn St. George, Wiltshire, England. Marion was born 1615 in St. George, Wiltshire, England and died in 1646 in Varina Parish, Henrico Co., VA. William arrived in Virginia in 1635 with his wife and 2 sons."

The following is proven about William Hatcher unless otherwise noted: A Henrico Co., VA deposition of William Hatcher dated 1677, indicated his age about sixty-three years, making his birthdate circa 1613/4.

On 01 June 1636, William Hatcher was granted a 200 acre land patent in Henrico County on the "Appomatuck" River, 50 acres for his personal adventures and 150 acres for transporting 3 persons (headrights), namely Richard Radford, John Winchester and Alice Emmerton. (Virginia Land Patent Bk. No. "1", Part "1", p363) (Note: In 1635 William immigrated to VA aboard the ship "Abigail". He paid passage for 3 others, often assumed to be his wife and 2 sons. In June 1999 the "Jamestowne Society" accepted the hypothesis of Jerry Proudfit of Atlanta, GA, that William was not married when he arrived in this country. His argument was based on the fact that had William arrived with a wife and child, Edward Hatcher, whom some believed to have been born in England circa 1633; William would have claimed an additional 100 acres for importing his wife and child. He did not do this; and no wife relinquished her dowry for these early land grants.)

On 10 Jul 1637, he received 200 acres of headright land for transporting 4 more colonists, e. g. Benjamine Gregory, Thomas Browne, Charles Howell and Elizabeth Willis.

On 29 May 1638 he received 150 more acres for transporting 3 more persons, e. g. Nicholas Ison, Francis Dunell and Henry Lilley.

Besides being a "planter" he became a member of the House of Burgesses from the Henrico Co., VA and served in that capacity in 1644, 1645/6, 1649, 1652 and 1658/9, his last public service..

William was obviously outspoken, headstrong and foolish for as he learned, "even nonmembers who aspersed the dignity of the House of Burgesses or its officers suffered speedy censure". The troubles began in October 1654 when Hatcher, a former burgess from Henrico County, accused Edward Hill of blasphemy and atheism. These were serious allegations under any circumstances, but Hatcher's assumed larger proportions because of Hill's prominence as a senior militia officer and a former Speaker of the House of Burgesses. Hatcher could not sustain his charges in the Quarter Court, which dismissed them. The matter should have ended once the court "cleered the said Coll. Edward Hill," but Hatcher was foolhardy. This time, though, he compounded the insinuations by asserting that "the mouth of this house was a Devil". Affronted by such contempt for their Speaker, the members haled Hatcher before the bar of the House and forced him on bended knee to acknowledge "his offence unto the said Coll. Edward Hill and Burgesses of this Assembly; which accordingly was performed and then he the said Hatcher dismist paying his fees (fines)".

In 1676 at the time of Bacon's Rebellion (an armed insurrection in 1676 by Virginia settlers led by young Nathaniel Bacon against the rule of Governor William Berkeley), William Hatcher's foolhardiness again caused him trouble by his support of Bacon. At a court held by the Governor and Council, March 15, 1676-7: "William Hatcher being brought before the court for uttering divers mutinous words tending to the disquiet of this his Majesty's countrey, and it being evidently made appeare what was layd to his charge by divers oaths, and a Jury being impanelled to assess the damages, who bring in their verdict that they award the said Hatcher to pay ten thousand pounds of tobacco and caske, which verdict of the jury this honourable court doth confirme; but in respect the said Hatcher is an aged man, the court doth order that the said Hatcher doe pay with all expedition eight thousand pounds of drest pork unto his Majesty's commander of his forces in Henrico county, for the supply of his souldiers, which if he fayle to doe, that he pay eight thousand pounds of tobacco and caste the next cropp, and pay costs." William was much more fortunate than most who took part in this rebellion. Many were committed to prison and forced to forfeit all or most of their property, which, incidentally was given to friends and supporters of the King.

The children of William and Mary (_____) Hatcher were:

1) Edward Hatcher b. Abt. 1636 Henrico Co., VA, d. 1711 Henrico Co., VA, m. Mary Ward. 2) William Hatcher, Jr. b. Abt. 1638 Henrico Co., VA, d. William was literate as he personally signed his extant 1680 will. He was probably buried on his plantation in Henrico, Co., VA.

Came to Virginia by 1 June 1636 when the governor granted him 200 acres on the Appomattox River in what was then Henrico County.

Other land patents: William Hatcher received two more parcels of land: 850 acres in July 1637 and 150 acres the next year. His headrights for the 850-acre tract included the four he submitted in 1636. Hatcher evidently did not settle this territory and Henry Randolph secured patents to it: the 150 acres in 1657 and the 850-acre tract in 1662.

In 1674 not long before his death, "Mr. Will. Hatcher" obtained a patent for 227 acres in Henrico County on the south side of the James River. This land spread between the plantations of Henry Lound and Gilbert Elam. A headright of this latter patent was Thomas Childers. William's son William Jr. got this land and it was later in the hands of Edward Hatcher. William evidently purchased land to account for the number of acres he held at his death.

It is therefore ordered by this house, that the said William Hatcher, upon his knees, make an humble acknowledgment of his offence, unto the said Coll Edward Hill and Burgesses of this Assembly; which accordingly was performed, and then he, the said Hatcher, dismist paying his fees.

William Hatcher was again a burgess in March 1658-9. This may have been his last public service. As the following record shows, his rebellious nature got him in trouble again during Bacon's Rebellion. Court of the Governor and Council March 15, 1676/7 William Hatcher being brought before the court for uttering divers mutinous words tending to the disquiett of this his Majesty's countrey, and it being evidently made appeare what was layd to his charge by divers oaths, and a Jury being impanelled to assesse the damages, who bring in their verdict that they award the said Hatcher to pay ten thousand pounds of tobacco and caske; but in respect the said Hatcher is an aged man, the court doth order that the said Hatcher doe pay with all expedition eight thousand pounds of drest porke unto his Majestie's commander of his forces in Henrico county, for the supply of the soldiers, which if he fayle to doe, that he pay eight thousand pounds of tobacco and caske the next cropp, and pay costs.

To Thomas Burton Jr. the land between Mr. Henry Lound and Gilbert Elam containing 226 acres, his choice of all of my horses and mares, one heifer, one Ewwe, a yars schooling, and clothes until he arrives at 17 years of age. 20 February 1676/7. From "The Family of Bartholomew Stovall, Volume 1, by Neil Thompson.

His Will, made when he was "well stricken in years" dated 1676/7, was proved 1 April 1680. It names no executor or residuary legatee and in fact mentions no child at all. On 26 September 1674 he had procured a patent for 227 acres of land in Henrico County; this land he devised for life to Thomas Burton Jr. together with the latter's choice of his horses and mares, one heifer, one Ewe, a years schooling, and clothing until he arrives at the age of seventeen, also the second choice of his bed and its furniture. Such a Will is more like a deed of a gift to one particular relative than a Will; the rest of his property was permitted to pass as in intestacy, and on 1 April 1680 Edward and Benjamin Hatcher, William Hatcher's surviving sons made a gift to the minor children of their deceased brother Henry of cattle and other personal property out of the estate of William Hatcher and then divided the residue among themselves.

Notes for WILLIAM HATCHER:

From "The Hatcher Family" on "GenForum" September 29, 2000

re: William "The Immigrant" Hatcher. He is accepted as a member of the Jamestown Society. He settled in Henrico County, Virginia. His home was known as Varina Plantation and was located on the James River. He was a neighbor of Bacon and was involved in Bacon's Rebellion. He was a member of the House of Burgess and was an outspoken individual, was even chastised for it and fined.

William Hatcher was again Burgess in March 1658-9. So far as the extant records show, this was his last public service; but the temper which induced him to denounce Speaker Hill, got him into trouble at the time of Bacon's Rebellion. At a court held by the Governor and Council, March 15, 1676-7.

"William Hatcher being brought before the court for uttering divers mutinous words tending to the disquiett of this his Majesty's countrey, and it being evidently made appeare what was layd to his charge by divers oaths, and a jury being impanelled to assesse the damages, who bring in their verdict that they award the said Hatcher to pay ten thousand pounds of tobacco and caske, which verdict of the jury this honourable court doth confirme: but in respect the said Hatcher is an aged man, the court doth order that the said Hatcher doe pay with all expedition eight thousand pounds of drest porke unto his Majestie's Commander of his forces in Henrico county. for the supply of the souldiers, which if he fayle to doe, that he pay eight thousands pounds of tobacco and caske the next cropp, and pay costs."

He was much more fortunate than most who took part in this rebellion which was called by Bancroft the "Harbinger of American Nationality". Many were committed to prison and were condemned of all or most of their property, which, incidentally was given to friends and supporters of the King. The citizens of HenricoCo sent the King a list of their grievances and requested that they be heard. This manuscript signed by: Wilber Elam, John Pleasants, Solomon Knibbe, and Will Hatcher. This was reported in "The History of HenricoCo, VA".

The Hatcher Family Web Page features William Hatcher, the Immigrant. The site is filled with Deeds, Wills, Court Records to document facts about this Hatcher line. It is not known who William's parents are. Some researchers have connected him to the Careby, Lincolnshire, England Hatchers, but this hasn't been proven. Also...there is no proof of who William's wife was, and he appeared to be unmarried when he came to Virginia. William came to Virginia about 1635 and figured conspicuously as a resident of Henrico. The Jamestown Society recently accepted the submission of Jerry Proudfit of Atlanta, Ga. that William was not married when he arrived. This is based on his first land grant of June 1, 1636 and the fact that he received only 200 acres for himself and 3 importees. If he had been married with a son, he would have been entitled to
